Competitive Workouts

"People are opting for small group workouts like boot camps because there's a sense of camaraderie. Everyone's pushing each other to work harder." —Donna Cyrus, SVP of programming, Crunch gyms

Rustic Flowers

"Bittersweet vines have a rich color that's perfect for the season. They create a woody, right-out-of-nature experience.

—Saundra Parks, celebrity event planner and floral designer, The Daily Blossom in N.Y.C.

The 'Done' Look

"Glamour is one of the trends for fall. Try a precisely applied lip in a notice-me color or a perfectly coiffed hairstyle."

—Holly Carter, beauty editor, PEOPLE StyleWatch

E3Live Dietary Supplement

"It's the new wheatgrass shot! Some people use it to boost mood and energy."

—Amanda Freeman, cofounder, VitalJuice.com, a wellness Web site

IN! Algae (E3Live, $149.75 for five bottles; e3live.com)

IN! Cheers & beers (Kim Kardashian)

Sports Bars

"Right now, casual places where you can have a beer and play beer pong are dominating. People love a cheap drink!" —Tony Daly, co-owner of MyHouse, celeb hot spot in Los Angeles

Wireless Ear Pieces

"Having a headset permanently attached to your ear doesn't reflect the current, more thoughtful climate. It's a relic of precollapse Wall Street." —Paige Newman, editor, The Hot Sheet by Zandl Group, a trend forecasting company

Stainless Steel Home Accents

"This cold, modern metal is over! From fixtures to picture frames, there's a warming trend in home decor toward brass. People today want to be surrounded with the familiar and a sense of the past, and brass evokes that feeling." —Rayman Boozer, interior designer, Apartment 48 in New York City

Long-Distance Relationships

"It's part of a new green, eco-conscious attitude: Break up with your out-of-state boyfriend or girlfriend because it's not sustainable, and date local!" —Jennifer Ganshirt, managing Partner, Frank About Women, a marketing-to-women consulting firm

Trashing Electronics

"Recycle them instead! Check out Best Buy's program—you pay $10 to recycle your TV, laptop or computer monitor and get a $10 gift card." —Heather Dale, editor, GeekSugar.com
